Foreword

To mark the last year at the old campus of Hockaday, we, the Cornerstones Staff, have incorporated into our theme pictures representing parts of puzzles. At the end of the book we hope that the completed puzzle will provide each of you with a complete impression of our beloved campus.

Dedication

As the last class to graduate from the old campus of Hockaday, we dedicate this edition of The Cornerstones to the tradition, beauty, and wonderful memories close to the hearts of every girl who has walked along the brick path leading to her graduation under the cool, nostalgia-inspiring pergola. We and those who have gone before us will surely never forget the graceful sweep of the acres of thick grass on which we have frolicked and shouted in days gone by; the relaxing atmosphere of Morgan Hall, through whose halls we have so often walked to classes; the radiant bursting into bloom of every living thing in the springtime, in seeming preparation for the day of culmination of all our efforts through the past years, surrounding the area of the pergola with luxuriant, fragrant blossoms and richly robed trees; but most of all, we shall remember the irrepressible, beautiful traditions which have made Hockaday the school which we will be so sorry to leave, the school which, although changing its location will, we all hope, retain its aura of high standards, rich culture, and moral and spiritual inspirations to every girl who passes through its gates. But we feel that the graceful tradition instilled by Miss Hockaday can never fully be recaptured when the memory-permeated grounds of our old Hockaday no longer ring with the laughter, merry chatter, and friendship-filled camaraderie of the girls who have loved and will miss so much the lonely reminders of what has been.

The Fourth Form's last year at the Old Hockaday was filled with the most responsible duties of all the forms, such as being responsible for giving chapel, taking attendance, keeping study hall, and publishing the Hockaday Directory. But it was a gay year as well, with the fun-filled senior trip, destination unknown until arrival, and the laugh-inspiring Senior Day on May 12, with its hilarious take-offs on the school's teachers and seniors arriving in truly unique attire. Beginning second semester were the numerous senior parties, which added many memories which the members of the Fourth Form will treasure, no matter how far away they may be in the future. The Fourth Form's year has been truly one of unity, cooperation, and responsibility.

Jan Adams

Your first impression of Jan is that she is probably the quietest girl you've ever met. Her silence is sometimes mistaken for shyness, but Jan is anything but timid. She is actually an extrovert, ready to do things no one else could ever dream of doing. She is one of the few people willing to forget her own wishes in deference to those of a friend. Jan is extremely easy to get along with. This quality draws everyone to her immediately, so that all people consider her their good friend. Jan carries a great store of happiness and deep understanding with her. She will be loved wherever she may go.

Cute little Ann, with her vivacious mannerisms and ever-ready friendliness to all, has earned the respect of all who know her. She voices her opinions frankly yet always tactfully, and is looked to in every group for the mature degree of responsibility, without over-dominance, which she possesses.

Gifted with courtesy, quiet leadership, and ability in her studies, Ann will next year be Hockaday's loss and SMU's gain.

Suzie Allen

Short black hair, snapping brown eyes, an infectious laugh, and a rare sense of humor are a few of Suzy's many assets. Rightly so, she has been known for her shy yet bold beauty and many beaux. Whether talking with friends or working in one of the two clubs to which she belongs, Suzy seems to have a certain enthusiasm which will go far in this world. Including the two clubs—the art club and math club, Suzy has also shown in her three short years at Hockaday that she can be a responsible leader by her successful chairmanship of the Trophy Case Committee and her activity as a loyal member of the Green Team. As Suzy continues her enthusiasm, she will surely be a welcome member of any society that she may enter.

Beth Anthony's quick smile, lively sense of humor, and appreciative laugh can be heard almost any time during the day and night. This attractive girl from Arkansas is a necessity, with her clear, rich voice, to any songfest in Junior or in the houses. As well as possessing wit, charm, and an irresistible Arkansas accent, Beth is an excellent writer, and does well in all subjective fields. She possesses keen observance and a superior ability in expressing herself, orally as well as literally. Her classmates love her, her teachers respect her, and those of us who have known her best will never forget her.

Jane Austin appears to most people as a quiet, serious-minded, determined gal who is devoted exclusively to doing her best for others in her class through her duties in House Council. But this is only Jane's outer self, for upon closer acquaintance, as most boarders can verify, Jane has an inner liveliness and subtle wit which, although laugh-inspiring, never hurts the feelings of those around her. This quality, along with the quiet determination with which she pursues her course, has made those of her class who know her well look to her as a close friend, one upon whom they can depend in any extremity.

In addition, small but energetic Jane has proved to be a great asset on the all-school basketball team.

This is one girl who, with her gray, candid eyes and pale blond hair, will be sorely missed next year.

Gail's vivaciousness is known all over campus. She has a sparkling sense of humor, is good-natured and is seldom seen without a smile. She always makes time for others and everyone is cheered by her sunny outlook on life. Whatever horrible disaster has occurred, Gail can find the humorous side and soon she has everyone laughing.

Gail is also noted for her willingness to do things for others. She can be counted on to help out in any activity and has carved a definite place for herself in school life.

These two qualities, coupled with an easy manner, will win Gail friends wherever she goes.

Karlene Beal

Although having been here only two years, Karlene has made a prominent place for herself among her classmates. Her determination and her vivacity have gained her much respect and admiration. She has done much for the school spirit through her varied cheer-leading activities. Karlene's outgoing and friendly personality make everyone feel at ease around her. Because of her numerous beaux, Karlene is envied by many.

We surely feel that next year Briarcliff is gaining a girl of outstanding drive and personality.

Her striking appearance is the first thing anyone notices about Becky. However, she is endowed with many other outstanding features. Becky gives the appearance of an extremely fun-loving girl, which she is. But also, she is an honor student, devoted to her many activities in the Dux and Entre Nous. She has been a big asset to the Green Team as an enthusiastic and determined cheerleader. Becky's many friends recognize her as a sincere and devoted girl. This is a girl that will find success in whatever field she chooses. Hockaday, the Latin department particularly, is losing one of its most essential girls.

Wendy Bensinger

Hard-working, sincere, clever, and good-humored, Wendy has given of herself and her time to every project in which she is involved. Latin and Drama seem to be her main interests. Her help (especially backstage) in both Drama Club and in Glee Club has been greatly appreciated. But she is not always behind stage, she is also a great little actress. Because of her excellent diction, she received the Diction Cup in her junior year. She also has been a willing and imaginative helper on the Roman Banquet.

Persevering and imaginative, Wendy is not averse to hard work without any glory attached; she will be well-remembered at Hockaday and eagerly received anywhere.

Mary Berry, with her quiet beauty and soft voice, is one of the most highly regarded girls in the senior class. A recognized leader, she was president of her class in the third form, and this year has simultaneously served as consul of the Dux Femina Facti and President of the Student Council. Mary possesses all the qualities needed and expected of a person holding a high office. She has a strong willingness, and indeed a desire to accept more than her share of responsibility. Each task she assumes is completed impeccably and with quiet assurance.

Interested in every phase of school life, this versatile girl is involved in many activities outside the realm of student government. Above all, Mary has a charming vivacity that endears her to those around her. With her graduation, Hockaday will lose not only an efficient and effective worker but a loyal and lovable friend.

Noel is recognized as one of the funniest girls in our class. She possesses the remarkable talent of being able to combine a New England accent with a deep southern drawl. This, along with the "Boardman" looks—a blank look while we explain something to her fifteen times, then the pause, and "... oh ..." which follows, then a little hidden smile that tells you she knew all along—endear Noel to us. We all recognize her by the ever-present sneakers and by the seemingly endless resource of Ivy League, roll-up sleeve shirts, a source of constant amazement to us. As we go our separate ways after graduation, we will be sure to remember Noel wherever we go.

One of the most beautiful girls in the senior class is Linda Brack. This little bundle of vivacity may be found running madly around campus whether she is playing hockey, or trying to make it to Glee Club on time. Popping up anytime and anywhere, Linda, with her good naturedness and thoughtfulness make her a welcomed sight on any scene. Although she has worked very hard for her own school, Linda also has found time to be a very enthusiastic Saint Mark's cheerleader for the past three years. We are sure that Linda will never be without many, many friends.

Susan V. Bradley

Ingenuous, candid, good-natured, industrious—all describe Susan. Her open nature and willing help have made her beloved by all who know her. Unaffected good humor makes Susan easy to get along with.

Susan also knows the real values in life, and is not swayed by falsities. No one has worked harder for her class and school than this girl. Her cartoon characters are often seen gracing posters up and down the hall. Susan has given freely of her time and is eager to help with everything.

We will all long remember this genuinely friendly girl who often speaks of Hawaii, T-birds, and model trains.

What is it that makes Jo so beloved by everyone she meets? It may be her amazing sense of humor combined with the ability to make anything laughable. Or it may be her genuine interest in and respect for the opinions of others, along with a quiet, tactful sympathy.

But most likely it's a combination of all these qualities, emphasized by their application to lower formers who find the work or boarding life difficult at first. She has their unqualified respect, and the entire senior class's as well. Jo will truly be missed next year.

Toni! Well P.E. is almost over and I'm so glad it's my last year. It has been great this year, and I hope next year will be just as good. As first formers to take the first year there be good over by (v.k.) just be good always - don't get into any trouble, and keep your doors open. Lots of luck Jo

Harriett Brown

Harriett's Louisiana accent lends itself well to hilarious imitation of character types as well as to quiet sympathy. She stands up for what she believes, unswayed by petty obstacles. Harriett can set us off into peals of laughter and yet cheer us up in a sincere, quiet way when we're depressed. She objects strongly to undue partiality, whether in her favor or not, and will not stand for any malicious gossip in her presence. This is a girl who, through her direct and forceful honesty and ideals, has earned our respect and admiration, and will no doubt do likewise, wherever she goes. We'll miss you, Brownie.

Molly's abilities range far and wide: in athletics, in which she plays a fast game of tennis and basketball, and swims well too; in music, in which she studies voice, with a pleasing result; in Spanish, at which she is quite adept; and, most important to those of us who inhabit Junior, in bridge. Molly knows Goren from cover to cover and has helped everyone improve her game.

Sometimes very pensive, sometimes happy and bubbling with laughter, Molly, with her stunning green eyes and attractive figure, makes her presence felt in any group. With all these attractive qualities, Molly will be admired wherever her path may lead.

Carolyn is a gal with a sunny and sparkling personality and with large quantities of energy and appeal. Her wry sense of humor makes her a great deal of fun to be with, and her "Dresden" sophistication makes her extremely popular with everyone. Bedecked in sunglasses, she can be heard calling a cheerful "Hey, there" as she hurries to Great Hall. Never downcast, Carolyn adds a measure of vitality to any gathering. Furthermore, Carolyn is very conscientious about her school-work and activities, and can always be relied upon to do her very best. She has a remarkable amount of common sense and self-confidence which will aid her in any situation she may encounter. We know Carolyn is one of the best loved girls ever to graduate from Hockaday.

The girl with the lively, sparkling eyes, sometimes streaming because of her contact lenses, is Albany's own Judy. Always with a sunny smile for everyone, Judy is dearly loved by those around her. She displays her versatility in her widely varied duties of White Team cheerleader, vespers chairman for the boarding department, and as secretary of the Fourth Form, in all of which she displays aptitude and enthusiasm. Gifted with the advantageous quality of being able to make friends easily, Judy is sure to be as successful in college as she has been at Hockaday.

Travis is usually seen striding around campus with paint on skirt, blouse and face. But the talent exhibited in her outstanding art work, which is always proudly on display in Mr. Smith's office, more than makes up for any displaced blobs of paint on her person. With a charming wit and winning smile, Travis has a sincere interest in those about her, and can always be counted on to liven any conversation. She has a great love for horses and the outdoors, which is shown by her constant chatter about Colorado and her family's ranch and horses there.

Perhaps the characteristic for which Travis will be longest remembered—and missed—at Hockaday, is that she is not afraid to say what she thinks, and because she cannot in any sense be termed hypocritical, Travis is sure to have a fulfilling and exciting life.

What can be said about our Cranston? She's a gal who's truly hard to describe. Why? Simply because everyone knows Carolyn—her boisterous laughter, her loud singing, her "spas" fits, her admonitions in bridge: "Never, never, never bid a three-card suit!," her pigeon-toed walk; but, most of all, her true and wonderful friendship, her invincible loyalty, and her sincere interest in others. Junior will never have another president as paradoxical, unpredictable, and as truly wonderful as our Carolyn.

Marion Davidson

Marion can be described as fun-loving, conscientious, mature and poised. This is a mighty big order, but she has so many outstanding qualities that the list could go on and on. Her sense of humor is known by all, and she is altogether a very happy person. She participates in many school activities and is a valuable member in each. This year Marion was elected president of Entre Nous and vice-president of the Art Club.

She is never afraid to express her opinions and it is this quality that makes her an asset in any discussion. She can not be easily swayed and knows definitely what she wants. When she sets a course she is seldom sidetracked.

All in all, she can best be summed up as a "ball of fire," with an endless number of friends.

One of the most comical figures in the senior class is Janet DeSanders. She led the class to success in the Senior take-offs in her junior year and added her humorous touch to the Senior play. As author of "The Janetor" in the Hallmark, Janet finds humorous aspects in the everyday school routine. She is renowned for her interest in such things as radio stations, records, Johnny Mathis and Corvettes. Her participation in various clubs has added to her distinction as a devoted Hockaday girl, as well as one of the cleverest.

Suzi Flaxman

Suzie is that rare individual, a woman who is a combination of beauty and intelligence, reserve and spontaneity, poise and humor. She has a vivacious and "bubbly" personality, yet is level-headed and keeps her own, as well as her friends' feet on the ground. Her "smart" manner of dressing, tact, poise, and social graces are the envy of her friends and make her a pleasure to have anywhere. Yet Suzi is very intelligent and does a wonderful job as editor of the "Hallmark" and the literary magazine. She also spent much of the summer at a mathematics seminar at S.M.U. Able to organize any job beautifully, Suzi mystifies her friends by managing at times to be seemingly unorganized herself. Truly Suzi, a juxtaposition of good qualities, will be an asset to everything she enters all through life.

Witty, vivacious Kay always lends an air of gaiety to our class, of which she is the versatile president. Always ready with an original idea, full of fun and creative as well, Kay has helped greatly to make our class what it is. This is a young woman of whom it may truly be said "She is a real lady" and she makes this assertion manifest with her tactful, winning participation in conversations, her refusal to say an unkind thing about others, and her wide range of ability, from French to philosophy. Kay will be a successful individual in whatever she does in her life ahead.

Molly Furrh

Naturally curly black hair and snapping dark eyes are Molly's outstanding features. She can be heard widely bemoaning the weather forecast if rain is predicted, for if it rains her hair "will be sure to curl all over creation." With her great adeptness at telling stories, she is often seen in the midst of a group of breathless girls who are raptly listening to her accounts of adventures in Bosier City and of plots devised to catch her boyfriend doing sometime wrong! Molly's thinly veiled sarcasm and her capacity for being her entertaining self will be missed at Hockaday.

Intelligent, resourceful, and responsible well describe Caroline Giles. This is a girl with seldom found candidness, with friendliness for all and with an interest in the truly important things in life. When she undertakes something, one can be sure that it will be an accomplishment well done. Caroline loves sailing, especially racing, and is often heard mentioning her summers in Marblehead, Massachusetts. Her humor takes an Eastern bent, but does not affect the results of its expression—laughter from all. With her sincere concern for the upholding of all that is worthy and challenging to her classmates and of those which mankind reveres, Caroline will achieve genuine success and will be the object of the admiration of her contemporaries and elders alike, throughout her lifetime. Caroline will be missed indeed.

Rena

When anyone mentions Rena, immediately frowns turn to smiles and sadness to laughter. With her jolly bounce and her contagious laugh (who could mistake that laugh?) she cannot help but make friends with all the people she meets. Rena fits into any group, anywhere, anytime—mention Rena and she is there; if she is not, the adventure is not the same. A hard worker, Rena takes her studies seriously and works diligently at any special project she undertakes. Enthusiastic as much about other people's fortune as well as her own, Rena is truly one of the most loved girls at Hockaday.

Whenever a hilarious contagious laugh is heard, one knows that Jennie is somewhere close. The only way to live, according to Jennie, is to dress in jeans or bermudas and to be as carefree as the wind. This is exactly the philosophy by which she lives—most of the time, for Jennie also possesses the charm of a princess when dressed up for a dance. Regardless if she's playing the role of a tom-boy or a princess, Jennie always seems to be able to take time to console a girl who is feeling low, either with soothing words or gay laughter. Because of her concern for others, others care for her and welcome her friendship.

Peggy Grinnan

Ever since she entered Hockaday in the seventh grade, Peggy has been noted for her beauty, her kindness, and her good humor. Whether she is seen cheering on the St. Mark's team, modeling at a style show, or swimming a Hockaday team to victory, Peggy will be found smiling and cheerful. She is always ready to help someone; if a girl needs a ride home, or a dance committee needs last-minute help, Peggy can be counted on. She can most-likely be spotted in the midst of school activities such as all-school teams, or as a White Team cheerleader.

Well liked by all her classmates, Peggy will contribute much to anything that she plans to undertake.

A bouncy walk, a bubbly smile, and gay chatter—that's Pam. She is always lively and vivacious with a laugh that sparks cheerfulness in everyone. Yet Pam accepts responsibility graciously and readily; she can constantly be depended upon in the most extreme emergencies. Still Pam's most outstanding feature is her candid, easy manner. She is a delight to hold a conversation with for she will always speak the truth, frankly and simply. Pam's boisterous laughter and natural demeanor will be heartily missed at Hockaday next year. May she walk side by side with this inherent happiness throughout her life to come.

Anne's great intelligence has won her a National Merit Scholarship commendation and the envy of her friends. An avid reader, she holds many intellectual interests. She writes beautifully and has worked very hard on the "Hallmark." She gives her time to anyone that needs it, and her excellent typing has helped many clubs and girls with last minute paper-work.

Anne's tall and stately bearing stand out in any crowd. Her classic features and sparkling conversation have won her many beaux. Truly Anne combines intellect and beauty. Her scholastic ability and many talents will make her an asset wherever she goes.

Cynthia is a true lady in every sense of the word. She possesses a wonderful combination of poise, grace, and charm so seldom found in "a young girl." Conscientious, industrious yet ever so easy-going and genuinely friendly—this is Cynthia. She is honestly and fully concerned with others and will do all that is possible to help them. She never shirks a duty and will willingly do much more than her share of the work. Cynthia also has a proclivity toward the domestic side of life, a trait for which she is constantly teased and envied. Very mature and warm-hearted, Cynthia will always be loved by all who know her.

Fae Hoffman

Fae has the happy distinction of being a girl who has seldom met anyone that she has not liked. She is always ready to hand out praise where it is due, while not always expecting some in return.

She is also a hard worker and a good student. She plays the piano well and did much for the Senior Play and the Glee Club productions. Never afraid to do more than her share, she is ever ready to lend a helping hand. Yet she does these things with seeming ease. She never seems to be so rushed that she does not have time to be interested in other's experiences.

Fae's goodnaturedness and willingness to help will not be forgotten.

If you see a shoeless, sun glasses-donned girl trotting about the campus, you can be sure it's Wayne. Armed with an unbelievably keen sense of humor and extremely high intelligence, Wayne can capture any crowd. Whimsical, absent-minded, lovable—that's Wayne. She is at home anywhere, at any time, with anybody. Her interests range from art to math, including almost anything in between. She never complains, but accepts situations and people as they are with an easy-going competence that endears her to all her friends. Indeed Wayne will make a place for herself wherever she may go—for she is the kind of girl you can never forget.

Rue Howell

Intelligent, gracious, kind—these are the outstanding characteristics of Rue. In Hockaday only since last year, Rue has shown her remarkable ability not only through her excellent scholarship, but also through her leadership of the Community Service Committee. Her inbred poise and graciousness have won her a courtesy cap as a token of her schoolmates' admiration. We know that whether attending college or following a career, Rue will find this same admiration and love from all who come to know her.

Kathy is the type of girl that looks so pert and feminine that it seems impossible that she is as quick and intelligent as she is. She is a good dancer, an enthusiastic date, and a very popular girl. In addition, she has been on the Honor Roll each year she has been at Hockaday, and is presently president of Mu Alpha Theta. She is a willing helper and has devoted most of her time this year to the Math Club. As vice-president she has been indispensable in organizing the programs for Math Club and in helping on the Math Tournament.

Because of her vitality, cuteness, and intelligence, Kathy will be an asset to any college.

Terri, noted as a young lady with exquisite beauty and infinite charm, knows well the art of making friends quickly and easily. She has displayed her many talents by singing and dancing in the Glee Club, using her artistic abilities to design covers for school literary editions, and offering sympathy or advice to a friend in need.

Terri can usually be found discussing her newest idea, anxiously awaiting a visitor from O.U., or in Junior—bidding three-card suits!

Linda means pretty and our Linda certainly is. She is well known for her striking blond hair and her infectious laugh. Linda is most often seen driving (?) a '60 Impala, one of her most cherished possessions. Although teased by her classmates for her "stumbling ways," Linda has acquired many friends during her nine years at Hockaday. Linda has also been an asset to the Spanish honor society and this year served as its treasurer.

We have found the rumor that Linda is planning to attend the University of Leopoldville to be untrue, but we are sure that wherever Linda goes she will be well liked and admired by all.

Personality and ability are perhaps the best words to describe Judy Kadane. Her school record for her first three years in the Upper School more than proves Judy's athletic ability, and in her senior year she went on to become an outstanding Athletic Board President.

Besides being a fine athlete, Judy also is an understanding and helpful friend in any situation. She wears an eternal smile and has an insuppressible sense of humor, and because of her loyalty to her friends as well as her duties, Judy is well distinguished among her classmates.

This is one girl that the student body as well as the faculty will miss in the coming years.

Johanne's quiet approach and easy-going outlook on life have gained her the respect and love of many people at Hockaday. She is considered by the faculty as well as the students to be one of the most considerate and courteous girls in her class. Wherever "Johannie" appears, there is an air of calmness and stability.

Johanne's deep interest in athletics, particularly tennis, has made her one of the outstanding athletes in school. She has contributed abundantly to the White Team and the Athletic Board. Truly, Hockaday will miss this hard-working and sincere girl.

Carolyn, with her shining, mischievous eyes and helpful, sympathetic manner, has, as chairman of the chapel committee this year, displayed more ingenuity than has ever been shown before in our morning services. Her simple belief in what is right and good has been brought out effectively in her services. Carolyn, devoted to her friends, is always a great favorite of her elders as well, for she is charmingly solicitous for the welfare of others. Wherever there are bright chatter and thoughtful deeds you will find Carolyn. She will without a doubt be as much a favorite at SMU as she has been at Hockaday.

The reason Donna is so well liked is because of her helpfulness, her quiet manner of doing things and her completely ingenuous attitude. Donna is the girl who made all the clever posters for the Green Team. She is the one whom the Lower School girls adore for her careful attention to them. She quietly volunteers to do impossible tasks, and then does them. Yet, for all her seeming quietness, Donna has a wonderful sense of humor. She is always the first to see something funny in a situation.

Modesty, helpfulness and friendliness to all make up Donna's amiable character.

Peggy...

In her two short years at Hockaday, Peggy has made innumerable friends. As proof of this she has this year held the position of Co-captain of the Green Team, and a good part of her almost unending store of energy has been spent in leading cheers. She has also found time to lend extensive support to various Glee Club projects during the year and was duly rewarded with the role of Earthquake Magoon in the Dad's Day production of "Little Abner."

With her never-ending cold, which this year began in the autumn and extended into spring, lovable Peggy will be sorely missed next year.

A bundle of unceasing energy well describes Kay; she never seems to run out of steam, and is always ready to do just one more thing. She seems to be doing a thousand things at once, yet gets it all done effectively.

Serious and very talkative at the same time, Kay manages to always get her point across in record time, perhaps accounting for why she seems to be doing so much at once. Kay will stand up for anyone whom she believes to be in the right and does so to effect. Gifted with a logical mind, her studies present few problems, and she devotes herself assiduously to her Spanish and her position as secretary in Tu Tertulia. With her ability on the guitar, Kay has provided many relaxing moments for us, as well as being a talented musician on the hockey trip.

Kay's limitless bundle of energy will carry her gaily through life.

Mike is a striking, sweet girl with always fashionable blond hair. She consistently draws attention from all she meets. Calm, poised, Mike is capable of handling any situation with discretion and decisiveness. She is at home anywhere, fitting in perfectly with any group. She possesses tremendous versatility coupled with the capacity to make anyone feel at ease when around her. Mike will surely be a great hit at any college and be a charming woman in her later life.

Jan's outgoing personality is her outstanding feature. She is friendly and companionable to everyone that comes in contact with her and is the type of girl that makes people reach out to her immediately. Her school interests are numerous and varied and have made her outstanding during her short period at Hockaday. Jan can always be depended upon to carry out well, whatever job for which she is made responsible. As a Varsity cheerleader, she has bolstered school spirit considerably; as a member of the Experiment in International Living, Jan's favorite subject is her many adventures in Switzerland. It is definite that this vivacious girl has done much for American prestige abroad, as well as Hockaday's here at home.

Maturity, poise, and sophistication are the outstanding characteristics of Mary McClain. Mary, a most beautiful and perfect lady, is admired by all of her classmates. Undoubtedly, her gentle manner and charming grace will win her friends everywhere.

Mary has also contributed a great deal to the Drama Club by giving freely of her extraordinary dramatic talents. Mary is known for her dramatic ability, which she proved as the lead in the Senior Play, and we predict that her outstanding talent will lead her to great fame in the future.

Sally may appear quiet and unobtrusive to most of her classmates, but beyond her reserved exterior there lurks a prime example of the Louisiana wildcat. This is not to say that Sally has a temper—far from it! She has one of the most temperate dispositions we've ever seen. But no one can furnish entertainment in Junior even nearly comparable to Sally's sallies on the accomplishments of various members of the graduating class. Her unique Louisiana drawl also distinguishes Sally from her comrades, often to her advantage!

Margie, as she is affectionately known by her friends, is a quiet sincere girl, who is both amiable and agreeable. She never utters a detrimental word about any of her friends or acquaintances. When given a job to do, Margie accepts it willingly and fulfills it to her utmost capacity. She is always courteous and respectful of others' wishes. Her cordial, willing attitude will be missed at Hockaday by all who have known her.

Her sunny smile and complete unselfishness have won Monty a courtesy cap; her enthusiasm has won the friendship of the whole class. In addition to being an excellent student, Monty is an outstanding pianist and winner of many awards. It is always so pleasant to walk by Great Hall and hear it filled with Monty's lighthearted music. Carol Owen

Carol can be found wherever there are fun, laughter and boys. She is by far, one of the most hard-working, eager members of the senior class. Her sincere interest in everything around her has endeared her to everyone that knows her. She is very conscientious in her studies and an avid supporter of the varsity swimming team. Carol's energy and enthusiasm have added extensively to all the form and Green teams. Her work at the hospital exemplified her deep love for children. Carol is sure to be successful at whichever college is lucky enough to acquire her.

Ellie is a well liked member of the senior class. As proof of this she holds this year the position of the captain of the White Team. Extremely adept in sports, she is, nonetheless, always patient, though never condescending with those less skilled than she. As White Team captain and as all-school volleyball captain, she has shown a good spirit in leading her schoolmates, constantly giving a word of instruction and encouragement. However, whenever it is her misfortune to face a defeat, she does so with complete grace.

Ellie is also gifted with a wonderful sense of humor and the ability to place those in her company completely at ease. This warm and affectionate girl, with her shiny blond hair curved in a graceful page boy, will be surely missed next year.

Mary K. Pederson

Mary K. is one of the most gifted and best loved girls of the graduating class. Intelligent, courteous, and sincere, she is esteemed by her teachers as well as by her contemporaries. No one has ever seen sunny-dispositioned Mary K. upset or angry; as well as being charming, intellectual company, she has an extremely infectious laugh which always puts her contingents in a good humor for the rest of the day. Tall, stunning Mary K. is an object of admiration to both sexes, and will certainly be much sought after as a friend wherever she goes—who can help loving Mary K.?

Vicki Pernel

Vicki Pernel is somewhat of a paradox—she possesses a rare and sophisticated beauty, yet acts with all the warmth of one who is completely unconscious of this rare asset. Tall, thin and beautiful, she is Hockaday's version of a New York model.

Besides possessing this rare beauty, Vicki is also known for her roles in the Glee Club productions of the "Boyfriend" and "Brigadoon" in which she showed that she can sing with warmth and act with all the complete expression of her role. Yet Vicki is also a serious and strong student, taking part in the Dux, math club, Philosophy Group, and the Math-science seminar.

With these important facets, Vicki can do much in this world, and as she goes to college, she goes with our fondest hopes for a brilliant future.

Rheta Ray

Rheta is the acknowledged authority on makeup in the boarding department. Her skill in this applies as well to her ability at stage makeup, in which she takes a prominent place for efficiency.

Our Pawhuska belle voices her opinions directly and sincerely, and is respected for this and for her ability in art. This is a truly creative young woman, whose career will undoubtedly point toward art and beautification, if not toward the sciences at which she is such an expert. With such close contact with her vivacity and sense of humor, one would not think that a scientific mind would be among her best qualities.

Rheta, with her striking face and proficiency in scientific learning, will undoubtedly be a source of amazement and envy to her male contingents at college, not to mention for the rest of her life.

By reading Virginia's accomplishments, you can see only one half of this girl's assets. Besides being extremely intelligent, Virginia is an excellent horse-woman, an artist, and a swimmer. She also loves to water-ski. These other interests give Virginia her unusual ability to converse intelligently on a large variety of subjects. This ability, combined with her willingness to listen, has won her the close friendship of the girls and teachers at Hockaday.

She is a quiet girl, but one of definite principles and original ideas. She asserts herself unoffensively in a group, and her views are always respected.

Virginia is a strikingly beautiful girl, who loves to joke and have a good time. She is very popular not only with the girls at school but also with boys.

It is not often that such a combination of talent, beauty, personality, and intelligence is found. When such a combination is found, it is to be treasured.

Diana

Exuberance, and laughter, and dark sparkling eyes . . . Talented drawing, singing, acting, and dancing . . . Energetic, efficient, willing . . . Tolerant, sympathetic, complaisant. A "little philosopher" with a lot of common sense and a whopping sense of humor, who chases the blues and is sure to be chased. She is no myth; she is just our very real and dear Diana!

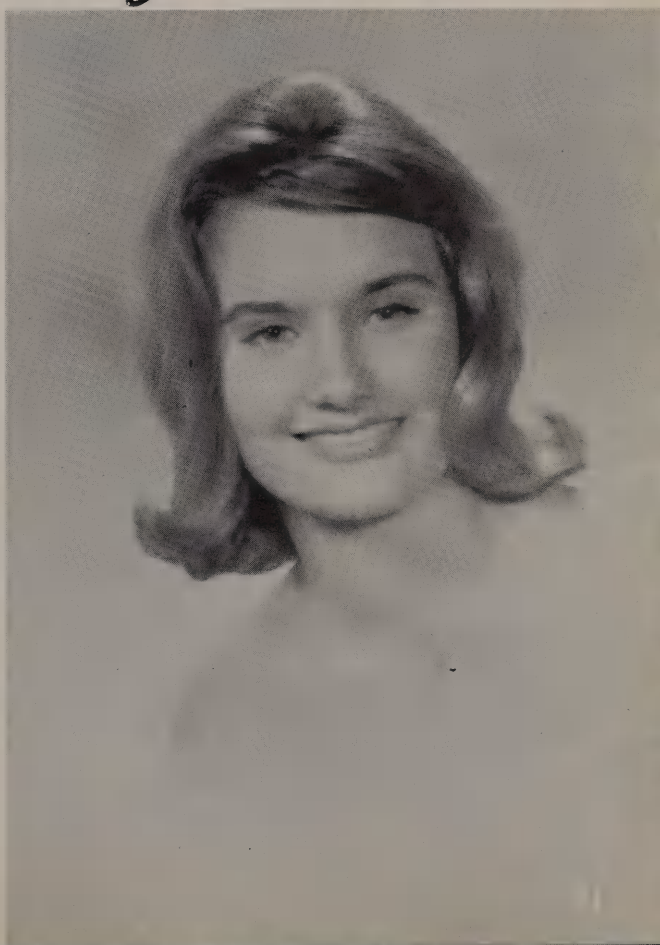

Suzanne is always what everyone else isn't and does what no one else would. Suzanne believes in acting natural at all times whether it shocks people or not, and she has acquired many friends because of her individuality and uninhibited personality. Her dearest possessions in this world are her flashing red M.G. and her dog Randy. Suzanne has a definite flair for painting and has therefore been an able president of the Art Club. We wish Suzanne good luck next year and we are sure she will be well liked wherever she goes.

Janie

The best adjective which can be ascribed to Jane is "responsible." She has demonstrated a concentrated amount of responsibility in carrying out her duties as the Chairman of the School Service Committee, and as a steady, reliable member of Tu Tertulia. Whatever job or duty may be assigned to Jane will be carried out efficiently and swiftly. She possesses great determination in her studies and is an exemplification of efficiency in carrying them out. Jane can meet almost any situation with a cool, logical, effective outlook, which explains why so many of her classmates count on her for help or advice.

Responsible Jane will be outstanding for her capability wherever she goes.

If you are wondering who the petite bundle of energy is that just rushed by, it is bound to have been Liz, affectionately known as the "lizard" by her best friends. Liz is serious, dependable, and industrious. Her intelligence, put to good use by hard work, is well-known. Liz has the highest ideals, and by adhering rigidly to them has won the lasting respect of her class. On the lighter side, Liz is a perfect hostess. Her snapping green eyes and vivacious personality bring parties to life and put everyone at ease. Liz will long be remembered not only as a charming and helpful girl, but also as a mature and purposeful person.

A smile, a twinkle in her eye, and a long red pageboy are all characteristics of Mary Thuss. Her great sense of humor is well known to the whole Senior Class. Although she'd be the last one to admit it, Mary is also one of the smartest Seniors. She never speaks of her grades or her problems and she is unselfish and is always concerned about others. She, a willing listener, is always ready to hear another's problems and to help her. Eager to praise and quick to console, Mary will indeed leave a pleasant and longlasting memory behind her.

Although Susan seems quiet when you first meet her, it is not long before you discover that she is one of the sweetest, most fun-to-be-with girls in the senior class. Susan, always willing to help, has a genuine concern in any project she undertakes. Her hard work and versatility have helped make many of the dramatic productions at Hockaday a great success. She helps backstage, skillfully and willingly and is also a very good actress, for instance her performance in the Senior Play.

Susan, poised and charming, has beautiful hair, a striking face, and a very good figure. The combination of her beauty and charm make Susan a real lady.

Robin Underwood

Robin has long been acknowledged one of the loveliest girls of the senior class. With her fair skin and striking deep blue eyes, she's an attractive addition to any group. Robin is devoted to beautiful music and very proficient on the piano. Besides giving people pleasure in this way, she has a lively wit which takes effect in subtle yet striking remarks; she also has a talent for making people feel at ease in her company, as well as having a sincere interest in the accomplishments and problems of others. Hockaday will miss her charming, winning presence next year.

Cheerful in all she does, friendly to all she meets, Eloise is one of the most outstanding members in her class. Her sincerity, good will, and enthusiasm have won many friends and her talent in acting and singing has gained the admiration of all. Eloise is always ready to give help and advice whenever it is needed, and she has dedicated much time to each of her many activities. Eloise, president of the Glee Club, culminated her four years of participation in the school operettas by playing the lead, Fiona, in "Brigadoon." As is usual with a person of Eloise's ability and effort, her performance in "Brigadoon" as well as in her other efforts was outstanding. Whether she works on the Student Council, in an honor society, or in a club, Eloise is always a welcome addition.

What endears Lana to everyone who knows her in her unaffectedness. Gifted with a beautiful figure and winning smile, she seems unaware of her outstanding qualities and works on as though she were no one out of the ordinary. Her skill at the piano has supplied us with many happy memories, as have her vociferous comments at the bridge table.

This prime example of the lovely southern belles about whom we hear so much, and of whom we see so few, will leave an unfillable place next year.

A lovely girl with auburn hair and a radiant smile—that's Judy. With a freshness like spring, and an ever-ready desire to lend a helping hand, Judy has truly won a place in the hearts of all who know her. As Green Team cheerleader, Judy, with her new and effective yells, has seen to it that the spectators never lose enthusiasm.

Because of her effervescence, Judy has won many girl friends and numerous beaux at home and abroad. Having traveled around the world, Judy has made friends in the Orient, Europe, and South America. We predict that Judy will have no difficulty in making a place for herself wherever she goes.

Wertzie can nearly always be found playing bridge or enjoying a Dr. Pepper in Junior. Probably best known for her amazing ability as a mimic, Mary sometimes is the despair of her friends when, during relatively serious moments, she sends them into gales of stifled laughter by her facial antics.

Mary's outgoing friendliness has won for her many friends in the lower forms, and her second grade charges are always willing to attest to her excellence as a student teacher. For three years Wertzie has given her time to the School Service Committee and has ably served as treasurer and secretary. This warm girl with her joie de vivre will long be remembered here at Hockaday.

Susan is perhaps one of the quietest girls in the senior class. She is one person upon whom anyone can count in a jam, and she always has the time, no matter how busy she is, to listen to someone else's problems. She excels in studies, and is a steady worker. Her dearest friends are the people who truly know what a sincere and righteous girl Susan is. She has a deep sense of what is right, but possessing this quality doesn't prevent her from being one of the gayest members of a group. Though quiet, her comments are practical and effective.

Susan will be a prominent scholar at the University of New Mexico next year, and her teachers at Hockaday will miss her responsible work here.

"Wiso"

Innumerable freckles, a wide smile, and eyes that crinkle when she laughs—all these characterize Susan. As captain of the Green Team, personality-plus Susan has made it an enthusiastic and spirit-filled year for the Team. With her well-known warhoops which fill opposition teams with desperate terror as Wiso sweeps down the field or catapults a ball across the volleyball net, Susan is one of the most familiar and best-loved girls at Hockaday. As well as being most proficient in athletics, Susan, with her smile which no one can resist, and her sincere interest in and friendliness to all, has truly won the enthusiasm and admiration of her classmates. She never misses an opportunity to have fun, or to make something normally tedious a riotous picnic. Susan will be irreplaceable next year and for the rest of Hockaday's existence. We all wish her the best of luck, wherever she may go.

Jan came to Hockaday from Virginia this year, and has adapted rapidly to Texas and its way of life. She can be recognized by fruit boots and an Air Force Academy pin. An assiduous horsewoman, Jan spends most of her time trying to improve on her equestrian skills, but she can also be heard playing her bongos late at night and listening to progressive jazz.

Jan will be remembered by the graduates for her recitals of limericks in Junior and for her eastern humor, punctuated with Yankee "youall" 's, as well as for her great inventiveness and dramatic ability.

The III Form, the class of '62, has enjoyed an eventful and prosperous year.

The projects which have drawn our class closer are maintaining order in the halls, giving chapel to Lower School regularly, and visiting and serving the Children's Hospital as a community project. Our money-making project was selling candy.

Through our projects, parties, and athletic events our class has gained unity and friendship.

We wish to thank our beloved sponsor, Mrs. Tidey, the class officers, and each individual class member for a wonderful year.

The First Form has had a very interesting and successful year. Besides gaining class spirit through our social events, we also gained unity through our many class projects. Seeing that the athletic equipment was in its proper place during physical education class time, helping in the library, supplying the infirmary with books and magazines, keeping the bulletin board neat, and printing and selling the Hockaday calendar are all projects that brought our class closer together. The most inspiring project of the year was a party given in April for first grade children at the Community Chest Homes. All in all, the class projects this year have been instructive to us and we hope helpful to the school.

The Dux Femina Facti, established in 1939, is Hockaday's Latin Honor Society. The purpose of this society is to further the member's knowledge of the traditions, ideals, and principles of Roman life. The name itself, Dux Femina Facti, is a quotation from Virgil's "Aeneid" meaning "the leader of the undertaking was a woman." The Dux is headed by a cursus honorum consisting of its eleven officers, by its sponsors, and, of course, by Minerva, the Goddess of Wisdom. Membership in the Dux is open to all Latin students who, after one semester, have an average of 85 or above in their grammar, Caesar, Cicero, or Virgil Classes. The highlight of the Dux-sponsored activities was the traditional Roman Banquet, held in May in honor of Minerva, the Goddess of Wisdom.

Entre Nous, the French Honor Society, is open to any girl who has completed a semester's work in French with honor grades. The purpose of this club is to stimulate further interest in anything pertaining to France and the French people. Initiation of the new members was held in February. Initiates were required to know French history and grammar, and the first stanza of the Marseillaise, and to submit an original poem about an initiated member. The new members were welcomed with a French dinner at La Vieille Varsovie Restaurant; they were required to bring original hats.

Tu Tertulia, the Spanish Honor Society, was organized in order to recognize excellence among the students of the Spanish department. The purpose of Tu Tertulia is to acquaint its members with the customs and culture of Spanish speaking countries and to improve its members' fluency in speaking Spanish through practice. The Christmas Posada, initiation, and Pan American Day are three high points for the members. Meetings are held monthly, usually on Sunday afternoons at a Mexican restaurant or at the home of a member.

Mu Alpha Theta, a national high school and junior college mathematics honor society, was enrolled at Hockaday in the spring of 1957. This year's sponsor was Mr. Thompson.

The qualifications for full membership are fulfilled by senior high school students who have completed seven semesters of college-preparatory mathematics with grades of distinction (A).

The qualifications for associate membership are fulfilled by any student who has completed three semesters of college-preparatory mathematics with a B average. Associate members' only privilege is that of attending and being heard at meetings. They are also presumably likely candidates for full membership.

MEMBERS: Karlene Beal, Mary Berry, Susan Bradley, Suzi Flaxman, Caroline Giles, Kathleen Hudkins, and Virginia Savage.

Courtesy Cap

One of the most cherished traditional honors at Hockaday is the Courtesy Cap. To receive this award a girl must be elected by the student body and the faculty with the approval of the Student Council. The Hockaday Courtesy Cap stands for more than just courtesy; it stands for honor, integrity, and a spirit of cooperation. The green-and-white cap is worn on Fridays by those girls who have proved themselves worthy of this coveted honor. It is even more treasured because the wearers must continue to uphold its standards.

This year the Courtesy Cap was awarded to: Mary Berry, Ann Addyman, Rue Howell, Nancy Meaders and Olivia Laney.

Athletic Board

President Judy Kadane
Sponsor Mrs. Duncan

The Athletic Board is one of the three governing bodies of the school. Its members consist of a Green and White Team representative from each of the forms, the Team captains and the president. It is their duty to choose the members for the various form and Green and White teams, to arrange games with other schools and to select suitable dates for the various athletic activities. The climax of the Athletic Board's program comes in the late spring at its assembly. At that time girls excelling in sports are awarded varsity letters and athletic shields.

The Community Service Committee's main function is to raise money to be distributed to local, national, and international charities. This year the committee did this by presenting a style show sponsored by Neiman Marcus in October. The rest of the year the committee members try to encourage all the students to serve the community by holding production parties where tray mats and other decorations for hospitals are made. The Community Service Committee also keeps an account of the hours each girl has worked toward the Service Pin, awarded by the Red Cross. In May this pin is given to all the girls who have earned it.

This year the Journalism Club made several changes in its method of operation. The staff of the "Hallmark" was divided into two groups. The first group was the permanent staff. Each person on this staff had his own particular assignment. There were two editors who supervised every edition of the paper. Directly under the editors were three assistant editors who alternately were in charge of putting out the edition of the paper. There were also the Sports Editor, The Circulation Manager, and the Lay Out Manager who carried out their respective jobs. The second group consisted of girls who aided greatly in putting out the paper. Although they were not on the staff, they assisted by writing articles for the paper.

The style of the newspaper this year was a printed journal on slick paper, of which four editions were printed. In addition to printing the paper, The Journalism Club was also in charge of collecting material for, and printing the literary magazine. This is a small magazine which contains outstanding articles, essays, poems, and drawings which Upper School students have created during the year. All in all it was a very interesting and profitable year for the Journalism Club.

Hockaday's first Debate Club was founded this year by the Graduating Class of 1961 with Mr. Merritt as Sponsor. The Club presented two debates between the Democrats and the Republicans for the school during the presidential campaigns. The remainder of the school year was spent working on the National High School Debate Topic in preparation for the February debate with Ursuline Academy and in preparation for possible entry in an annual high school debate tournament. The new club has had the honor and responsibility of setting precedents for the guidance of succeeding generations. It is this year's Club's hope that next year's Debate Club will have a firm foundation on which to stand and build.

Hockaday Players

President	Diana Sessions
Vice-President	Jan Martindale
Secretary	Barbara Castleman
Treasurer	Meg Boggess
Sponsor	Miss French

The Hockaday Players' principal aim is to learn about the basic components of the theater. The members study and evaluate the technical, creative, and artistic aspects of drama, directing, stage managing, lighting, costuming, and working with sets and make up—as well as verbal and acting skills in order to further their theatrical education. The Players are also very interested in experimental theater, discovering new techniques to apply to the productions.

Glee Club

President	Eloise Vellucci
Vice-President	Linda Brack
Secretary	Peggy Lubben
Treasurer	Marion Higginbotham
Director	Mr. Thomas Merriman
Accompanist	Mr. John Farley

The busiest year of the Glee Club began when the chorus presented a lively short version of "Lil' Abner" for Dad's Day. The show contained everything from hay to a live pig. Soon after the show, preparation was made for the annual Christmas Concert. Mr. Samuel Adler's Christmas Contata, composed especially for the Hockaday Glee Club, was presented at the First Methodist Church on December 11th. Immediately after Christmas vacation there began rehearsals for this Year's musical, "Brigadoon." Never has there been a more exciting and fun show. Among the outstanding features of the production were the Dallas Memorial Auditorium, a fire the day before the show, union men working the lights, real heather, an audience of 1200 and honest to goodness boys!

The most memorable program was the Spring Concert in June. This program was of a more serious type and was performed in concert style—a lovely and appropriate way to begin graduation weekend.

Sponsor Mrs. Lively

New this year, the Garden Club has been successful and enjoyable for its members. With the help and guidance of Mrs. Lively, the members have made arrangements for hall tables and employee's desks, and have also made plantings at various places on the school campus. The Garden Club has also enjoyed frequent outings to various landscaping places, and coupled with Mrs. Lively's valuable information concerning every aspect of gardening, the members of the club have acquired much knowledge about the useful skill of gardening.

School of Wreathmakers

The School of Wreathmakers is an organization formed for the purpose of aiding in the success of the Roman Banquet, which is put on by the Latin Department at the end of the year. During the year this school teaches anyone in the Latin Department who is interested how to make the ivy wreaths used in the Banquet. On the day of the Banquet, the school is in charge of making all the wreaths used in crowning the guests at the Banquet. The School of Wreathmakers certainly makes the day of the Banquet a more easy and lovely one for all who attend.

Recreation Committee

The Recreation Committee, in its second year of existence, has a two-fold purpose: to bring about a closer-knit relationship between the day students and resident students, and to offer a wide enough program of leisure-time activities to allow the individual girl as much choice as possible in selecting events to suit her particular interest.

This year's activities ranged from the ballet to horseback riding. Movies, plays, skating, musicals, and jazz concerts were all a part of the recreation schedule.

May 25th "61"

Dear Jones,

I've never had so much fun with such a lovable imbecile as you are. I'll always remember the way we wrecked everything. I suppose I could say "Stay sweet", but being the way it is, it wouldn't do much good. (Smirk!) I'll always remember you as one of my best and closest friends. Be good, and ~~if~~ even if I never see you again, I'll always hope that someday our paths will cross and I'll find you as happy as you deserve to be.

Love You Always,

Claudj. 1/
